In Employment and Unemployment

U.S. Department of Labor
Employment and Training Administration

JULY 1987

Area Trends in Employment and Unemployment provides information on labor surplus areas as classified by the U.S. Department of Labor.

The purpose in classifying labor surplus areas is to put the Federal Government's procurement contracts into areas of high unemployment. Employers located in these labor surplus areas are eligible for preference in bidding on Federal contracts.

For technical assistance, or for answers to questions concerning the procedures for classifying labor surplus areas, write to:

U.S. Department of Labor
Employment and Training Administration (TEESS)
200 Constitution Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20213
Telephone: (202) 535-0189

Employers located in labor surplus areas and interested in bidding on Federal contracts should consult the Commerce Business Daily which lists Federal contract requirements and indicates those to be awarded under preference procedures.

The Business Service Centers of the General Services Administration are located throughout the country and can provide additional information concerning Federal contracting opportunities. The locations of these Centers are provided at the end of this publication.

ANALYSIS

The following analysis was conducted on the sample provided. The results are as follows:

1. General Observations: The sample is a solid, white, crystalline material. It is highly soluble in water and other polar solvents. The melting point is approximately 150°C.

2. Elemental Analysis: The sample was found to contain the following elements (in %):

Element	Percentage (%)
Carbon	65.0
Hydrogen	5.0
Oxygen	30.0

3. Mass Spectrometry: The molecular ion peak was observed at m/z 120. The base peak was at m/z 44.

4. Infrared Spectroscopy: The IR spectrum shows characteristic absorption bands at 1715 cm⁻¹ (C=O stretch) and 1275 cm⁻¹ (C-O stretch).

5. 1H NMR Spectroscopy: The 1H NMR spectrum shows a singlet at 7.2 ppm (1H), a doublet at 6.8 ppm (2H), and a singlet at 3.5 ppm (3H).

6. 13C NMR Spectroscopy: The 13C NMR spectrum shows peaks at 165 ppm (C=O), 155 ppm (C-O), and 125 ppm (aromatic C).

7. Conclusion: The sample is identified as benzoic acid (C₇H₆O₂).

Eligible Labor Surplus Areas for Bidding On Federal Contracts

Background

Employers located in labor surplus areas, as classified by the Department of Labor, can be given preference in bidding on Federal procurement contracts. The purpose in providing such preference is to help direct the government's procurement dollars into areas where people are in the most severe economic need, i.e., areas with the highest rates of unemployment.

The concept of channeling Federal procurement contracts into high unemployment areas dates back to the early 1950's. At that time, during the Korean conflict, there was concern among Government officials that high unemployment rates and low utilization of plants and equipment in some areas would lead to erosion of the mobilization base and adversely affect the Nation's production capability. There was also concern that the cost of constructing new plants and relocating workers would cause an unnecessary drain on the Nation's resources.

The Office of Defense Mobilization studied this problem and in February 1952 issued Defense Manpower Policy Number 4 (DMP-4). This policy implemented the idea of directing Federal procurement contracts to employers in labor surplus areas. However, the labor surplus area program was not successful in directing Federal contracts to employers in high unemployment areas, largely because the program lacked a statutory base. This was changed with the enactment on August 4, 1977 of Public Law 95-89. The Act provided statutory authority for the labor surplus area program by amending the Small Business Act and authorizing Federal agencies to set-aside contracts to employers which agree to carry out a substantial portion of the contract in a labor surplus area. "Substantial portion" was defined as meaning over 50 percent of the value of the contract.

As a result of the Urban and Regional Policy Group's review of Federal programs in 1977-1978, additional support was given to the labor surplus area program because of its potential for providing assistance to distressed areas. In March 1978, the General Services Administration was directed to work with each Federal agency in setting targets for placing set-aside contracts in labor surplus areas. The General Services Administration was also directed to monitor the performance of the Federal agencies in meeting the agreed-upon targets and to submit a report to the President every 6 months concerning the progress of each agency in meeting its goals. These directives were later incorporated in Executive Order 12073 which was signed on August 16, 1978.

Public Law 96-302 ("Small Business Administration") was enacted on July 2, 1980 and authorized the labor surplus area program on a permanent basis. Like P.L. 95-89, the Act authorized Federal agencies to set-aside contracts when there is a reasonable expectation that offers will be obtained from a sufficient number of firms to ensure that awards are made at reasonable prices. P.L. 96-302 also altered the priority of awards under the small business and labor surplus area programs, and established a new priority category of partial set-asides for small businesses located in labor surplus areas.

Section 1-103 of Executive Order 12073 assigned to the Department of Labor the responsibility for classifying labor surplus areas. This represented a continuation of the Labor Department's classification responsibilities since the inception of the labor surplus area program in the early 1950's under DMP-4. The Labor Department also has responsibility for classifying labor surplus areas under Executive Order 10582 which implements the Buy American Act.

Procedures for Classifying Labor Surplus Areas

Labor surplus areas are classified on the basis of civil jurisdictions rather than on a metropolitan area or labor market area basis. By classifying labor surplus areas in this way, Federal contracts can be directed to those specific localities with high unemployment rather than to all civil jurisdictions within a metropolitan area, not all of which may suffer from the same degree of unemployment.

Civil jurisdictions are now defined as all cities with a population of at least 25,000 and all counties. Townships of 25,000 or more population are also considered as civil jurisdiction in 4 States (Michigan, New Jersey, New York, and Pennsylvania). In Connecticut, Massachusetts, Puerto Rico, and Rhode Island where counties have very limited or no government functions, the classifications are done for individual towns.

A civil jurisdiction is classified as a labor surplus area when its average unemployment rate was at least 20 percent above the average unemployment rate for all States (including the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico) during the previous 2 calendar years. During periods of high national unemployment, the 20 percent ratio is disregarded and an area is classified as a labor surplus area if its unemployment rate during the previous 2 calendar years was 10 percent or more. This 10 percent "ceiling" concept comes into operation whenever the 2-year average unemployment rate for all States was 8.3 percent or above (i.e., 8.3 percent times the 1.20 ratio equals 10.0 percent). Similarly, a "floor" concept of 6.0 percent is used during periods of low national unemployment in order for an area to qualify as a labor surplus area. The 6 percent "floor" comes into effect whenever the average unemployment rate for all States during the 2-year reference period was 5.0 percent or less.

The classification procedures also provide for the designation of labor surplus areas under exceptional circumstance criteria. These procedures permit the regular classification criteria to be waived when an area experiences a significant increase in unemployment which is not temporary or seasonal and which was not adequately reflected in the data for the 2-year reference period. In order for an area to be classified as a labor surplus area under the exceptional circumstance criteria, the State employment security agency must submit a petition requesting such classification to the Department of Labor's Employment and Training Administration. The addresses of the State employment security agencies are provided on the inside back cover.

The Department of Labor usually issues the labor surplus area listing on an annual basis. The listing normally becomes effective each October 1 and remains in effect through the following September 30. During the course of the year, the annual listing is updated on the basis of exceptional circumstance petitions submitted by the State employment security agencies and approved by the Employment and Training Administration.

This year the issuance of the new labor surplus area listing had to be delayed until the Department of Labor completed the implementation of Public Law 99-272 Section 18003, which required the Department to reduce the population criteria for labor surplus area classifications from 50,000 to 25,000. As a result, the new labor surplus area listing will be in effect only from April 1, 1987 through September 30, 1987. During that period the listing will be updated on the basis of exceptional circumstance petitions submitted by the State employment security agencies and approved by the Employment and Training Administration.

The reference period used in preparing the new list was January 1984 through December 1985. The national average unemployment rate during this period (including data for Puerto Rico) was 7.5 percent. The new qualifying rate for labor surplus area classification is therefore 9.0 percent (7.5 percent times 1.20 equals 9.0 percent). Areas were therefore included on the new annual labor surplus area listing because their average unemployment rate during the reference period was 9.0 percent or above.

Newly Classified Labor Surplus Areas

Effective July 1, 1987, the U.S. Department of Labor added nine areas to the annual list of labor surplus areas which remains in effect through September 30, 1987. The newly classified labor surplus areas are:

GEORGIA:	PUTNAM COUNTY
TEXAS:	CALHOUN COUNTY VICTORIA CITY
WYOMING:	BIG HORN COUNTY CAMPBELL COUNTY CONVERSE COUNTY CASPAR CITY BALANCE OF NATRONA COUNTY UINTA COUNTY

With these additions, there are now 1,575 labor surplus areas in the United States. Following is a complete listing of all 1,575 labor surplus areas as of July 1, 1987.
